

EXECUTIVE BIOGRAPHIES

Bob Mathew, President and Founder

Bob Mathew has over a decade of experience developing and implementing communications and enterprise software applications. He has held senior management positions at Soundpath Conferencing Services and Valor Communications Group. Most recently, Bob served as the Senior Vice President of Operations at Soundpath, a leading provider of audio and Web conferencing services, where he led the IT and client services divisions.

In 1999, Bob co-founded Valor Communications Group, a 550,000-line, four-state local phone company based in Irving, Texas. Valor went public in 2005 and subsequently merged with Alltel's wireline business to become Winstream Communications (an S&P 500 company). As Vice President of Engineering at Valor, Bob was responsible for implementation of DSL and advanced voice services to rural telephone exchanges. Bob also served as a telecommunications consultant to Global Crossing and Insight Communications, and was one of the first Apple Computer Consultants while attending Stanford University in the early 1980s.

No stranger to adventure, Bob crossed the Sahara Desert in 2002, criss-crossing six countries in three months. Bob holds a BA in International Relations from Stanford University, a PhD in economics from Yale University, and a JD from Harvard Law School.

Alina K. Scott, Vice President-Product Development

Originally from Poland, Alina started her career managing technical assets for Fortis Bank S.A. in Krakow. In 2001 she came to the U.S., where she has consulted to various commercial and non-profit organizations on issues ranging from database management to website development. Alina joined Soundpath Conferencing Services in Washington, DC in 2004, where she was in charge of several business-critical technical projects and managed software development at the company.

At CatalystWeb, Alina is in charge of product, application and feature development and manages the company's development teams. She holds Bachelors and Masters degrees in Economics and Management of Computer Systems from the University of Economics in Wroclaw, Poland and an MBA from Queens University in Charlotte, North Carolina.

